

Why You Should Support Our Native District

As a Native-owned social news media company, VNN recognizes the unique historical and cultural circumstances of Native Americans and seeks to address the disparities that have persisted within these communities for generations.

Native American communities have a long history of injustices, including forced relocation, allotment swindling, and cultural suppression. Our work to promote social justice for Native Americans ensures fairness, dignity, and equitable access to opportunity.

Mainstream stereotypes, misrepresentations, and biased narratives continue to harm Native American communities, at the same time they are targeted by disinformation and misinformation campaigns. We work to counter these campaigns by being a champion of accurate information and reflection, demonstrated through our work relating to community issues and history.

Our work also helps preserve Native American culture, enabling our community members to pass down their heritage to future generations.
